6. M.Phil PROGRAMME

The M.Phil. Programme with specialization in Planning and Development was launched in 1993, and sixteen batches have passed out till date. The students who have successfully completed the programme have been placed in premier corporate organizations, development sectors, in NGOs, in research and academic institutions. Several of them have enrolled themselves for Ph.D. programme. The details of the programme and the admission procedure are as follows:

6.1 Rationale

India has chosen the path of development through planning. The country so far has completed ten five-year plans and is now implementing the Eleventh Five-Year Plan. Although during these years of planning, the country has made notable progress in many fields such as agriculture, industry, science, technology, health, education etc., there has been increasing criticism among social scientists, technologists and planners regarding the process, priorities and performance of Indian planning from the point of view of tackling many vital and crucial problems of development. There also has been an increasing awareness that social reality and development are quite complex phenomena, which can be understood in their totality only by adopting an inter-disciplinary or multi-disciplinary approach. The holistic understanding of socio-economic reality and of the various stages of development, and the availability of the expertise involved in the formulation and implementation of development policies can bring about a more sustainable and desirable development. There is a paucity of such well-trained personnel in India at present. It is in this context that the Department of Humanities and Social Sciences has launched the M.Phil. Programme with specialization in Planning and Development. This programme is different from the M.Phil Programmes offered at various universities. It is truly inter-disciplinary and has the contribution from the disciplines of Humanities and Social Sciences as well as from other departments and centers in the institute.

6.2 Programme Objectives

(i) to disseminate awareness and appreciation of the complexity of socio-economic interdependence and change.

(ii) to increase the understanding of alternative development styles, policies and technologies.

(iii) to provide various perspectives on micro-level planning for balanced development.

(iv) to examine the role of the new economic policy in the light of the overall plan framework.

(v) to expose students to first-hand experience of the issues involved in development work through field visits.

(vi) to train personnel for model building, analysis, interpretation and formulation of development policies.

(vii) to train in formulating and defending research proposals.

6.3 Eligibility

Master's degree in Arts, Commerce or equivalent with a minimum of 55% marks or equivalent letter grade (50% for SC/ST) from a recognized university or deemed university.

B.Tech./M.Sc. degree or equivalent with adequate background in Social Sciences with a minimum of 60% marks or equivalent letter grade (55% for SC/ST).

6.4 Total Number of Seats: Around 17

6.5 Teaching Methodology

The method of teaching and training include lectures, tutorials, qualitative and quantitative methods, case studies, discussion sessions, seminars, field visits, mini-projects and dissertations. Audio-visual aids are also used in teaching and training.

6.6 Employment/Career Opportunities

On successful completion of the programme, students can hope to be employed in public and private corporations, financial and banking institutions, national and state level planning boards, co-operative federations, governmental and non-governmental agencies for development research institutions etc. They can also join the Ph.D. programme offered by the HSS Department. The students from the previous batches are employed with reputed non-governmental organizations, consulting firms, academic and financial institutions.
